

Hero

I'm looking for a hero
Someone who will help me grow
Showing me right from wrong
Their determination forever strong

But finding a hero
Is easier said than done
When you think you've won
You've finally found the one
You suddenly discover a flaw
Something you overlooked
And never saw

Disappointment comes crashing to the ground
Because of the hero you thought you found

You continue to seek for a hero
In a land filled with mist
But this hero
Doesn't exist

I don't need a hero
Because I can proudly say
I can lead myself the right way